Description

This cook stove was given to Helen and Andrew on their wedding day. Helen's mother and father gifted her the beautiful range. Knowing Helen's talents in the kitchen were many, this seemed the perfect gift to promise a happy and healthy future for this newly wedded couple. For many, many years, Helen passed countless afternoons relaxing, cooking and baking as was her passion. As a couple they would entratian friends and family every opportunity that presented itself and found that the warm kitchen and quiet character of the stove would become room in which songs were sang, card gamnes played and sweet whispers of friendship and love were shared between Helen and Andrew for all of their lives.
